

1. Mandarin boating marina and yacht basin | 20th century

State Archives of FL | Source: C681208

2. The Mandarin Store | 1910

Walter Jones's store on Mandarin Road at Brady was later taken over by daughter, Agnes. G. Jones. Both were postmasters.

State Archives of FL | Source: NO29541

3. Harriet Beecher Stowe home | 1870

State Archives of FL | Source: PR06616

4. Harriet Beecher Stowe | 1896

State Archives of FL | Source: PR06615

5. Major Webb's Barn | Built in 1876

State Archives of FL | Source: N034436

6. View of the Saint Johns River - Mandarin, Florida | 1960

State Archives of FL | Source: RC18281

7. Entrance to Mandarin, Florida | 1890

State Archives of FL | Source: N034438

8. Moses Brown residence - Mandarin, Florida | 1870

State Archives of FL | Source: PR06613

9. Sinking of riverboat 'Maple Leaf' Historical Marker, Jacksonville

"Sinking of riverboat 'Maple Leaf' Historical Marker, Jacksonville" by StevenM_61 is licensed under CC BY-NC-ND 2.0. Historical marker describes the sinking of the Union steamboat Maple Leaf on the St. Johns River after hitting a Confederate mine during the Civil War.
<https://www.flickr.com/photos/62007874@N00/6940401881>

10. Store and warehouse - Mandarin, Florida | 20th century

Printed on sleeve: "Brown's later Walter Jones' store at left and warehouse near steamboat dock landing."

State Archives of FL | Source: N034406

11. "Florida's Largest Live Oak" - Stowe Lodge, Mandarin, Florida, on State Highway No. 47.1939

Note at top: "Old Home and Orange Grove of Harriet Beecher Stowe, Author of Uncle Tom's Cabin" The oldest and largest tree in Florida, 160 feet across under the branches. At noon it shades a space 190 feet in diameter. Students of forestry say it is over 400 years old. Body of the tree is over 9 feet in circumference. It was Osceola's favorite camp ground and was generally used for Indian councils of war.

State Archives of FL | Source: PC16320

12. Church building - Mandarin, Florida | Built in 1872 by the Stowe family

Mr. Calvin Stowe, the husband of Harriet Beecher Stowe, was the minister for this ecumenical church. The building was also used as the school for grades 1-8.

State Archives of FL | Source: RC03457

13. Boardwalk by the St. John's River

Property owners along the Riverfront took care of that portion of the boardwalk that was on their land.

State Archives of FL | Source: N034408

14. Mandarin road | 1890

State Archives of FL | Source: N034439

15. Church of Our Saviour - Mandarin, Florida | 1900

State Archives of FL | Source: PC2045

16. St. Joseph's Mission Schoolhouse for African-American Children 1868

The last remaining one-room schoolhouse in Duval County, built in 1898 specifically for the education of Black Mandarin residents.

Source: <https://www.mandarinmuseum.net/visit/schoolhouse>

Photo: Stacey Goldring

17. Jones home - Mandarin, Florida

State Archives of FL | Source: N034431

18. John C. Brown home - Mandarin, Florida | 1910

On Mandarin Road.

State Archives of FL | Source: N034429

19. View of Road 13 - Duval County, Florida | 1956

Accompanying note "Mandarin to Goodby Lake.

Looking north towards the intersection with Loretta Road in Mandarin."

State Archives of FL | Source: DOT0543

20. Family posing in front of Shands Bridge - Saint Johns County | 1929

Elmer, Donald, and Kathryn Miller of Toledo, Ohio, on May 14, 1929.

State Archives of FL | Source: N039432

21. Henry Holland Buckman bridge in Jacksonville | Bridge opened on May 1, 1970.

Accompanying note: "This 3.1 mile structure is a link in Interstate 295 around the western edge of Jacksonville, and connects Mandarin with Orange Park across the St. Johns River."

State Archives of FL/Marsh | Source: PC12792